To the Chairman, Vice-Chairman, Members and Citizen
Members of
The Sheffield Public Libraries Committee.

I AM anxious to call your attention to the importance of collecting for the Library, and arranging for convenient public reference, all Charters, Deeds, Acts of Parliament, Prints, Photographs, Manuscripts, and Records relating to the social, topographical, genealogical and architectural history of Sheffield; and with that object I have arranged and catalogued such part of the collection you have already acquired as relates to Sheffield and thirty miles round, and I hope that you will seize every opportunity of adding to this very interesting collection of local records.

I am sure that many who own land in this neighbourhood would willingly present to you old deeds, maps and papers, no longer of any practical value as documents of title, but of great local interest to the genealogist and historian, if they knew that such records would be arranged and catalogued for the use of the present and future generations, and I suggest that you should not only invite such gifts, but also urge every Library Authority throughout the country to adopt a similar scheme in its own sphere of influence, and by a process of exchange between Libraries, many valuable local records would get back to their place of origin, where the genealogist and local historian would naturally look for them, and where they would be of most use and interest.

I take this opportunity of expressing my thanks to Professor G. C. Moore Smith, Litt.D., of the Sheffield University, for much time and assistance in puzzling out with me the very curious field-names and surnames contained in your fine collection of Derbyshire Charters of the fourteenth and fifteenth centuries, and also to your Chief Librarian, Mr. Samuel Smith, and his staff for their very ready help and co-operation in my work at the Library, which added greatly to the pleasure and instruction that the preparation of this small Catalogue has given me. I also am much indebted to Mr. R. E. Leader for very kindly writing an introductory note, and to my sister and my articled clerk, Mr. Cyril Wells, for much assistance.

It will be seen from Mr. Leader's Introductory Note that, while these pages are in the press, he has presented to the City a very interesting collection of local deeds and papers; these I should like to include in the Catalogue, but I find this cannot be done without re-paging the whole, and disarranging the index and cross references. I have therefore added at the end of the Catalogue, by way of Appendix, a Schedule of the deeds, and they will be kept together as the "Leader Collection," and numbered as in the Schedule, until they can be included with, I hope, many others in a second volume of the Catalogue.

In conclusion, I must point out that the Catalogue is only intended to assist those who are in search of local information to find what they want, and as I am well aware of many imperfections in a class of work which is new to me, I ask them to verify my readings and extracts by reference to the original documents, which are now so arranged that any one of them can be produced in your Reference Library at any time.

T. WALTER HALL.

30th June, 1912.

INTRODUCTORY NOTE.

THE negligent indifference which too often leads to the destruction of old documents as mere lumber, and the dispersal of collections made by men who appreciated their value, are sources of constant and poignant regret to the antiquary. Locally, in this respect, we have been most unfortunate. Mr. Hunter has narrated his strenuous but unsuccessful efforts to save the MSS. indefatigably gathered by Mr. John Wilson, of Broomhead Hall. He has told of the boxes of papers once stored in a hay-loft at Norton Hall, which, never adequately examined, disappeared irrecoverably; and, not to multiply instances, his own manuscripts and books were indiscriminately sold by his executors. There are, too, gruesome stories, unhappily too well authenticated, of the manner in which Sheffield lawyers have ruthlessly consigned to the butter shop, or the dust heap, or the pulp mill, or the flames, masses of papers and parchments of invaluable importance to the history of the city.

All this is heart-breaking. Yet there is, occasionally, consolation in mitigated degree. Long-lost documents come to light under circumstances wherein is an element of romance, and joy at their recovery is proportioned to the grief with which they have been mourned. After belated wanderings in booksellers' shops, in auction rooms, in private hands (into whose methods of acquisition it were well not too closely to inquire), they, like Little Bo-Peep's sheep, have a tendency to find their way home—sometimes, alas! having left their tails behind them. There are still Wilson papers at Broomhead, of which Mr. J. G. Ronksley can tell us much. Some reflex of these may be seen in this Catalogue; but with all their wealth of Surveys and rentals and Court Rolls, they are very far short of what may be found in the Duke of Norfolk's Estate Office. And now the whirligig of time has brought from the Phillipps Library, into which they had drifted, certain of Mr. Hunter's collections here catalogued. Others of his MSS. are accessible in the British Museum, and many extracts from these have been published from time to time.

May we not hope that, with increased appreciation of the importance of old records, this is the beginning of better things? The Public Reference Library collection should be a nucleus around which, by the encouragement of the Committee, may accumulate charters, deeds and manuscripts, affording a mine of wealth to the investigator. And as to this end systematic arrangement and scheduling is of the first importance, we cannot too highly appreciate the generous public spirit shown by Mr. Walter Hall in devoting his time and knowledge to the laborious task of so assorting the documents as to make consultation of them convenient, and of cataloguing their contents for easy reference. Such additions as are made will henceforth fall into place almost automatically.

It would occupy too much space to attempt any detailed description, or even summary, of the material here placed at the disposal of the genealogist, the topographer, the student of customs, tenures, laws, and the condition of the people. The surnames, place-names, and field-names stand out like old friends to any who have delved in local annals. They occur amid surroundings which suggest most interesting additions to facts already gathered from many a scattered field. There is scarcely an entry which does not give the promise of further light on some person after whom we have groped, some family as to which we want to know more, some place that has excited one's interest. And it does not require much experience in such matters to see that much work will have to be done by many investigators before all that this collection contains is duly collated.

With regard to the Deeds, it will be seen that the series is rich in respect to the Peak district and Derbyshire; lamentably poor so far as concerns Sheffield. Yet there are thousands of documents in lawyers' and other offices, scarcely more than a stone's-cast from the Public Library, lying dusty, disregarded, and difficult of access. Some are in grievous confusion in lumber rooms, an unappreciated incubus to their owners; others, admirably stored but undigested, are awaiting a competent scheduler. By the much-appreciated courtesy of many of my legal friends, I have often been favoured with access to both classes, and with happy results. But even among the best preserved, the inquirer is almost buried in the straw through which he has to wade in search of grains of wheat. So I would venture to add my voice to Mr. Walter Hall's appeal to his professional brethren to pour the contents of dusty garrets into the Public Library, and so confer a benefit which is twice blessed—blessing him that gives and him that takes. And lest it be said that I am appealing to others to do what I am not prepared to do myself, I have asked the Library Committee to accept a small collection of deeds in my possession, although they are neither dusty nor unread.

Beyond such records as we may fairly hope to see gathered into a public institution, there are many unexplored sources of information, and the newly-formed Archæological Society need have no fear of exhausting such mines for years to come. I have already hinted at the Duke's office. The early deeds of the Church Burgesses—of which it is reported there are some eighty relating to the years 1304-1554, to say nothing of later documents—would, on examination, throw much light on the obscurity enshrouding a peculiarly interesting and perhaps unique form of local government. And though I fear I shall not live to see it accomplished, we very especially lack the publication of the Parish Registers.

Still, with such patriotic enthusiasm as has been shown by Mr. Walter Hall, Mr. Arthur Wightman, Mr. Freemantle, Mr. Edgar Allen, Mr. Ronksley, and the founders of "The Hunter Archæological Society," there is no room for despair. We want labourers to work, and money to publish.

- 80 (1300) The Day of Pentecost, anno gracie one thousand three hundred (29th May, 28 Edward I). Charter (in Latin) given at Ashbourne (Co. Derby). Surnames: Leticia de Clifton, Ralph son of Thomas de Peurewiche, Robert son of Hugh, Henry de Mapelton. Witnesses: Andrew de Basingis, John son of Hugh, William Cocaine, Jordan de Thorp, Richard de Derleye, clerk. Place-Names: Ashbourne (spelt Essheburn), Parwich (spelt Peurewiche), Mappleton, Thorpe, Darley (spelt Derleye), all in Co. Derby. Vellum: one skin 8×2 , the seal of green wax is in good preservation, and does not appear to be armorial. Note: The name Leticia occurs twice in the Charter and once in the endorsement, which reads as follows: "Carta Letissie de Clifton." The seal also bears what looks like another spelling of the same word, namely "Lecetece." The impression is clear and the letters large in proportion to the size of the seal. Peurewiche (now Parwich) is mentioned in Domesday Book (see Bawden's Translation, 1809, page 292), as are also Mapleton, Thorp, and Derleye (now Darley); they and Clifton are all within a few miles of Ashbourne. See also Derbyshire Charters (Bemrose), page 228. A photograph of the Charter is reproduced at the beginning of this Catalogue.

- 83 No date, but probably about 1307-8. See note. Charter (in Latin) relating to a messuage, an ox-gang, and all the wood of Trayok in the town and territories of Castleton (Co. Derby). Surnames: William de Trayok, John son of Robert Balgy. Witnesses: William Hally, Peter de Schatton, Robert le Heyr (Eyre), Gervase Martin, Roger le Raggets, Robert le Taylyor, Robert clerk. Place-Names: Castleton, Trayok, Shatton. Vellum: one skin (stained in two places), $7\frac{1}{2} \times 4\frac{1}{2}$, seal missing. Note: This Charter is probably in the same handwriting as the Charter of 1307-8 (No. 82), and the names of three of the witnesses are the same in both Charters. The Peak Forest was divided into three parts, viz.: Campana, Langdenedale, and Hopedale, and the Wood of Trayok was in Hopedale. See an Article in the Derbyshire Archæological Society's Journal for January, 1893, Vol. XV, page 72, where it says, quoting from a report to the Justices in 1285; "The Wood of Trayok,

- (83) where there is no cover of oaks, has been damaged by the villagers of Castleton to the amount of 5/-, and this belongs to Campana." The present name for Trayok is Treak Cliff, as appears from the Ordnance Survey, 1870-79 (one inch); and it is close to the Blue John Mine, about a mile West of Castleton; it is also known as Tray Cliff. In a little Guide to Buxton and Castleton, published by Henry Moore, 1820, further notes on Traycliff will be found, with an engraving at page 109.

A William Trayhot held lands in Le Castilton prior to 1336. See Derbyshire Charters (Bemrose), page 72.

The house stood between the houses of Robert Eyre and William Clough.

- 89 (1459) May 10th, in the 37th year of Henry VI. Charter (in Latin) relating to a parcel of land called Redefotes (?) in Castleton (Co. Derby). Surnames: Thomas Tayliour vicar of the Church of Tideswell. (Salutem, &c.) Thomas . . . Richard Walkeden, late vicar of the Church of Hope, William Clogh. Place-Names: Tideswell, Hope, Castleton. Field-name: Redefotes (?). Vellum: one skin $9 \times 4\frac{1}{2}$. One seal bears the letter T. Note: The capital T in the word Tayliour is not clear, but Thomas Taillour was vicar of Tideswell 10th September 1473 (see The Journal of the Derbyshire Archaeological Society, Vol. XXX, p. 19), and the seal bears the letter T. It appears also from "Notes from a Peakland Parish," by William Smith Porter (1909) that Richard Walkeden was vicar of Hope in 1425, so that he died between that date and 10th May, 1459. In this Charter the writing is small and difficult to read, but the land appears to have been held of the "King of England," perhaps part of the Royal Forest of the High Peak? There is a reference to "Thomo et Rico jam defuncto"; there is difficulty in reading the name after Thomas, but it may be "Anderewe,"

Nicholas Berd, Ralph Rigge, Ralph Bradbury (probably not the chaplain), Robert Hyde de Longlegh (?). Place-Names: Castleton, Bawdon, Bankhead. Vellum: one skin, indented, $11\frac{1}{2} \times 6$ (with small hole); the seal of red wax is in a good state of preservation, and bears, what appears to be, a fox or a squirrel passant. Note: Bawdon (now called Bowdon Edge) is a hamlet one mile North of Chapel-en-le-Frith. A footnote to an article by the Rev. Henry Lawrence, M.A., on "A Derbyshire Visitation Manuscript" (Vol. xxxii of the Journal of the Derbyshire Archæological Society, page 41) says, "William Needham son of Otwell Needham by Elizabeth daughter and heir of Nicholas Cadman of Cowley (parish of Darley)." He refers to a visitation in 1569, at which date William Needham was apparently living at Cowley. Possibly William was the son of Otuell and grandson of Christopher, above mentioned.
